THE DEDICATION OF THE LATERAN BASILICA

“When he was raised from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this, and they came to believe.” Jesus predicted his resurrection in today’s Gospel. But it wasn’t until after the disciples witnessed the miraculous event that they realized what he had been talking about. At the time, Jesus’ words seemed mysterious, even confusing. Those who heard him understandably thought his reference to “this temple” was about the Jewish house of worship. But it wasn’t. He was talking about his body. This only became clear later.

As the saying goes, “hindsight is twenty-twenty.” How often do we find ourselves in the midst of a situation that doesn’t make sense at the time? We question the “meaning” of a sickness, a lost job, a betrayal, or a disappointment. But then, after time has passed, we can begin to see it from another angle. In fact, many times we begin to see how good came out of these tough situations. St. Paul says, “We know that all things work for good for those who love God,” (Rom 8:28).

Sometimes it’s hard to trust in God’s promises, especially when his plan seems mysterious or confusing. But just as the disciples learned that Jesus knew what he was talking about, we can believe that too. He tells us that he is “the way and the truth and the life” (Jn 14:6). Although the way may seem indirect, Jesus’ perspective is bigger than ours. He knows how to lead us to the fullness of life, in this world and the next. The path may not be one that we would choose. Even Jesus had to journey through the cross before his resurrection—the temple of his body was destroyed before it was rebuilt. But looking back, it’s obvious that God’s plans really do work out for the best.

LA DEDICACIÓN DE LA BASÍLICA DE LETRÁN
Quizá no todos sabemos que la Basílica de Letrán en Roma fue propiedad de la familia imperial y que en el siglo IV se convirtió en la residencia oficial del papa. Hoy celebramos esta fiesta, donde nos podremos dar cuenta de que el Templo material, como figura de la Iglesia, es también un llamamiento a la comunidad y a la comunión. Las lecturas de hoy tienen una belleza sin igual. La primera lectura nos describe la visión del profeta Ezequiel de cómo el Templo reconstruido en Jerusalén dará la abundancia de todos los bienes. La ciudad santa, siempre necesitada de agua, ahora la tendrá en abundancia. “Un hombre me llevó a la entrada del templo. Por debajo del umbral manaba agua hacia el oriente, pues el templo miraba hacia el oriente, y el agua bajaba por el lado derecho del templo, al sur del altar” (Ez 47, 1). ¿Qué imágenes o sentimientos nos vienen al escuchar esta lectura? ¿Cómo podemos interpretar el espíritu y gracia que nos indica el profeta?

Sin embargo, el Evangelio nos narra el hecho de cuando Jesús expulsa del Templo a los vendedores. El Templo de Jerusalén, era como el corazón de la nación judía. Era el lugar de culto y por lo tanto debía ser respetado como casa de oración, no como cueva de ladrones. “Quiten todo de aquí y no conviertan en un mercado la casa de mi Padre”. Si Jesús físicamente viniera ahora, ¿qué diría de nuestros templos? ¿En que los hemos convertido? ¿Son casa de oración y respeto? San Pablo, aclara sobre nosotros los bautizados. “¿No saben acaso ustedes que son el templo de Dios y que el Espíritu de Dios habita en ustedes?” (1 Cor 3, 16).
